Another victory for Noemi Cantele.
She attacks 4kms before the finishing line and conquers the first stage of the Vuelta Ciclista a El Salvador.

An amazing performance for BePink's athletes in El Salvador: two victories in two days. After her 1st place in the Gp de Oriente, barely 24hs earlier, Noemi repeated her exploit and got to the finishing line all by herself.

The strong Italian athlete had already won last year in Nahuizalco under the expert directions of team manager Walter Zini.

It was a fairly difficult stage, with a steep final segment. Noemi has been the protagonist of a brilliant race, supported by the teamwork of all the athletes on the team, who also got rewarded when, after 95 kms of hard work, they were awarded the title of "best team".

Thanks to this success, Noemi is currently leading the general ranking of the Vuelta and she's also wearing the mountain and points classifications jerseys.

Teammate Alena Amialiusik, after attacking from the very beginning of the race, she crossed the finishing line in 7th place and she earned the jersey for the hardest working athlete.

BePink once again demonstrated that it is a very close knit group that can, and definitely will, be very exciting to watch.

"Noemi's physical condition is currently very good and that, together with an excellent strategy, resulted in this amazing performance. She was impeccable today and I'm very satisfied with all the girls because they all worked hard to make this happen and they are constantly improving" said Walter Zini enthusiastically.

After crossing the finishing line, Noemi thanked all her teammates: "I'm very satisfied, last winter's hard work is paying off. I want to thank the team because we all worked very hard during the race and part of this victory belongs to them as well as me."
