BePink is irresistible! Noemi Cantele is the Queen of the Vuelta.

The general ranking is more and more...pink ! Noemi leads the classification, followed by Alena Amialiusik.

The show goes on and on in El Salvador, and BePink is still the star, with four victories in four days. Noemi wins another stage, she's 1st in the general ranking and she's closely followed by Alena.

Cooperation, teamwork and a strong will to succeed and to pay homage to the red jersey worn by the captain of the team, Noemi, are the ingredients for success.

BePink is racing impeccably in El Salvador.

Today, during the most difficult stage, the athletes directed by Zini and Corneo performed flawlessly.

The stage was barely 50 km long with a difficult uphill finishing segment, right to the top of the Boqueron volcano, over 1500 m over sea level.

The leader of the race, Noemi Cantele, crossed the finishing line alone once again.

Alena Amialiusik 4th place, as well as Dalia Muccioli's 5th and Doris Schweizer's 9th complete and highlight the great performance of the whole team.

"The uphill segment of the race was especially hard, but I knew that it was crucial and I needed to race to win. The team's strategy was perfect, thanks to our great teamwork and communication, and we managed to win another race. I'm really happy", said a beaming Cantele.

The whole team is ecstatic. The team manager Zini added: "Noemi is very well prepared and she's demonstrating it every single day. Today's result is proof of the dedication and determination of the team, working together as one towards a shared objective. Dalia and Doris broke away from the group right from the start and they did a great job, showing maturity and strength. Noemi crossed the line first, sure, but this victory is one for the whole team".
