Classica Città di Padova: another great performance for BePink Noemi Cantele and Alena Amialiusik rule the race

The team managed by Walter Zini was once more the main protagonist of the first Italian race of the season, the 5th edition of the Classica Città di Padova, where BePink's athletes' performance was truly awesome.

Noemi attacked right at the beginning of the race, leading the group for around 10 km. About 30 km before the finishing line, then, Noemi and Alena sprinted and broke away from the group, managing to get 35 seconds of advantage. Only 1000 meters before the finishing line did the group finally catch up. Simona Frapporti finished the race in the 20th position, after working really hard throughout the whole competition to help her teammates.

Nevertheless, Noemi and Alena's race was extremely exciting to watch. Alena also won the intermediate sprint classification, followed by Noemi in second place.

"I'm very satisfied and proud of the team. Yesterday the girls raced very well and they managed to be the main protagonists of the race, although the rest of the participants were definitely high quality cyclists. With just a bit more luck, we could have won" said team manager Zini right after the race.
