Simona and Giulia come close to the podium during the World Cup. A result that's almost worth a gold medal!

Simona Frapporti and Giulia Donato open the new year with a great race: during the third and last stage of the track cycling World Cup in Aguascalientes, Mexico, and with the other members of the Italian national team, Simona and Giulia ranked fourth during the team pursuit race. Thanks to this important international result, in addition to the success obtained during the first stage of the World Cup in Colombia (Giulia Donato took part in that race as well), the Italian team is qualified for the World Championship.

"We are happy about this important result. Simona and Giulia are representing Italy and BePink very well and their performance is definitely satisfactory. This race is an important step towards the upcoming track cycling World Championship" explained BePink's team manager Walter Zini.

The Italian national team's adventure continues with Simona Frapporti's participation in the omnium race. This particular race is definitely a favourite of Giulia and Simona, who won the gold and the silver medal in this discipline during the Italian national championships last year.
