Giro del Trentino: Georgia Williams once again is one of the best in the race.
Ilaria Sanguineti steps on the podium in Sarnonico.

This Giro del Trentino has been a good race for BePink: after winning the first stage, a difficult team time trial race, during which young Dalia Muccioli won the leader's jersey, the athletes raced well during the next stages of the 20th edition of this short stage race.

Yesterday, during the second stage, Georgia Williams finished the San Romedio – Sarnonico, a 104 km long race, in eleventh position. An important result that allowed her to rank fifth in the general classification and, more importantly, to rank second in the young athletes' classification.

"I'm satisfied with the girls performance during this race" said the sporting director, Sigrid Corneo, who added "we raced well right from the start. We won the team time trial and yesterday we always were at the head of the group. Georgia did well, her 5th place in the general classification is another proof of her talent".

Ilaria Sanguineti came close to winning during a junior's race in Sarnonico, where she placed second after a very good performance. This is another important result for the youngest athlete on the team, who is going to face another difficult challenge on the 19th: her final exams.
